The Winner of Miller's Contest

Miss Gertrude Hayes, 1312 Rosemary lane, submitted the best war-time recipe in our contest, which closed Dec. 8. Her recipe, given below, is a substitute for meat. "Bean Loaf," she calls it.

In accordance with the terms of the contest, she has awaiting her, choice of any pair of ladies' shoes in the house.

THE WINNING RECIPE (No. 608)

Bean Loaf (Meat Substitute).

1½ cups cooked beans
¼ cup tomatoes
¼ pound cheese
1 pound butter
2 level tablespoons flour
Salt
Pepper
Small amount of onion for flavor

Mash beans, melt butter, add flour and mix thoroughly. Then add tomato. Let boil until thick. Grate cheese and add to the tomato sauce. All salt, pepper and onion to taste. Combine mashed beans and tomato sauce. Bake in a moderate oven until brown. Serve with tomato sauce, made by using 1 cup of tomato juice, 1 tablespoon butter and 2 tablespoons flour. Add salt and pepper.

We wish to thank the two hundred contestants for their interest in our store and for their interest in the broader problem of our country's sustenance. We wish especially to thank the committee of judges, selected by Miss Stanley of the Home Economics Department of the University of Missouri.
